OPM - Mentoring in Government Training and Development Policy Wiki: Training and development are one of the most critical areas to the success of an organization and their workforce to facilitate mission accomplishment. For this reason, knowledge management is essential in training to maintain the value and usefulness of the training function. In 2011, OPM created the Training and Development Policy Wiki (Wiki) for Federal government training and development practitioners. The shared goal of Wiki users is to learn, share relevant information, and collaborate across the government on all matters related to Federal training and development. The OPM Wiki is open to everyone to view and search for content. However, only Federal Government employees may register and post content tools, resources and best practices directly onto the wiki. All users are encouraged to provide comments relevant to the page topic thus making the wiki a "living" and ever-evolving resource.

Pentagon Library Intranet – Mentoring Site: The resources are divided in the following categories: Mentoring Books, Mentoring Web-books, Mentoring Articles, Mentoring Videos, and Mentoring Blogs.

*Note: *You may not be eligible for a Pentagon Library card, find more detailed information about how to access the library here.*
